What did we talk about last class?
Was there anything that you found interesting in the reading?
What are the various ways of dealing with other processes in Perl? When do you use each one of them?
We've seen how to do a lot of string manipulation in Perl with regular expressions. There are more standard ways to work with strings as well.

What are some of the functions that you can use to work with strings?

How do you tell Perl to sort things in different ways?

Let's have our telephone number program print out the data sorted by both name and by telephone number.
I should get the description of assignment #8 up and it will be due on Monday.
